TO KNOW - VILLA BALBIANELLO

The villa del Balbianello is a historic building located in Lenno, on the shores of Lake Como, on the Lavedo peninsula. The villa was built in 1787 on a pre-existing Franciscan monastery by Cardinal Angelo Maria Durini.

The last owner of the villa, from 1974, was the explorer Guido Monzino. Monzino, who wanted to make the villa a pole of national interest for what concerns geographic research, furnished the building with relics from his expeditions. Monzino died in 1988, leaving the villa to the Fondo Ambiente Italiano.

Villa del Balbianello has been repeatedly requested as a film location. Various international films have been shot in its halls and gardens, including John Irvin's A Month at the Lake (1995), George Lucas' Star Wars: Episode II - Attack of the Clones (2002) and Martin Campbell's Casino Royale (2006).
